Reports are coming out that the Indiana Senate will debate the Act this afternoon and that the House Democrats will return to the House Floor Monday to propose an amendment to the Act to allow for a public referendum on whether Indiana becomes the 23rd state to pass a Right to Work Act.

According to the Indiana Chamber of Commerce, the amendment would push the effective date of a right-to-work law back to November 5, and sunsets it on November 7 unless approved in the November 6 statewide election.
