The Commodity Futures Trading Commission plans to make its first whistleblower award under the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, with the recipient getting about $240,000 for exposing information about commodities law violations, Acting Director Mark Wetjen said in a May 20 statement. The number of “high quality tips, complaints and referrals” received by CFTC continues to increase, Christopher Ehrman, head of agency’s Whistleblower Office, said in statement.
