Scott Godes, partner and co-chair of the firm's Data Security and Privacy Practice Group, was recently quoted in "3 Tips For Manufacturers To Insure The Internet Of Things," published by Law360. Law360 recently wrote an article about the risks that manufacturers of IoT products face in connection with cybersecurity and data privacy. In the article, Scott said: "You would hope as a cyberinsurance buyer that a privacy or network security incident would be covered under your policy, regardless of whether it is based on an internet of things incident or a more traditional infiltration of a network server."
