

As a creditors' rights and bankruptcy attorney, Talia Wagner works with lenders and unsecured creditors' committees on Chapter 11 cases, real estate and asset-based financings, term loans, lines of credit, letters of credit, revolving credit facilities and franchise financing. Talia advises borrowers on practical ways of navigating distressed situations, including sales, liquidations and bankruptcy proceedings.

Notably, Talia represents clients in connection with plan confirmation issues, asset purchases, negotiation of cash collateral orders, and claim objections. She handles complex insolvency and business disputes, often involving stay litigation, fraudulent transfer litigation, and preference litigation.

Talia has litigated before the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals, numerous U.S. district courts, bankruptcy courts, and state courts in Georgia and across the country.

Prior to joining the firm, Talia was an associate in the bankruptcy and restructuring group of an Atlanta-based law firm.
