

Indiana Senate Passes Right-to-Work Legislation

February 1, 2012 | Labor And Employment

The Indiana Senate just passed the controversial right-to-work legislation by a vote of 28-22. The bill now heads to Indiana Governor Mitch Daniels, who will undoubtedly sign it. In response, hundreds of union members disrupted Super Bowl festivities by marching on downtown Indianapolis. The Indiana Business Journal's story can be accessed here.

We will be sure to keep readers updated as this story develops. You can download our previous legal Alert on Indiana's right-to-work bill by clicking here.

RELATED PRACTICE AREAS

Labor and Employment
Labor Relations