As we explained in our opening webinar in this ongoing series, COVID-19 has increased certain wage and hour and employment law risks. Join the Wage and Hour practice group in its continuing review of compliance pitfalls and challenges. In this second webinar of a series, our team will address:

- Further drill-down on wage and hour risks caused by COVID-19 related business changes and how to try to avoid them
- How to identify potentially problematic pay practices
- Wage and hour litigation, particularly related to COVID-19, and potential exposure

The webinar will feature an extended Q&A session. You may ask questions during the Q&A or submit them when you register.
