

EMPLOYEE STOCK OWNERSHIP PLANS (ESOP)

Open For Business

An Employee Stock Ownership Plan (ESOP) is a tax qualified defined contribution retirement plan regulated under ERISA and the Internal Revenue Code. An ESOP is a special type of retirement plan because it is designed to invest in securities of primarily one company - the sponsoring employer and is the only retirement plan that can borrow money to acquire employer securities.

ESOPs offer strategic and structural features that can help accomplish various objectives of companies and their shareholders, including:

- Tax-advantaged financing
- Exit and succession strategy for owners and investors
- Tax deferral of capital gains on sale by existing shareholders
- Useful in a leveraged business acquisition, recapitalization or LBO
- Expansion of employee ownership
- Tax-deferred employee retirement funding and savings
- Deferred employee compensation
- Eligibility as a tax-exempt S-corporation shareholder
- Protection against hostile takeover
- Our ESOP Practice Group

The attorneys in the ESOP Practice Group can advise clients on virtually all aspects of an ESOP, from design and planning, to implementation, financing, corporate governance and mergers and acquisitions activities.

ESOPs are an important employee benefit, estate planning and corporate finance tool. However, the ability for an ESOP to meet the objectives of your shareholders, management and employees must be carefully
