

NLRB Again Delays Employer Notice Posting Deadline To April 30

December 23, 2011 | Labor And Employment

The NLRB announced today that it will postpone, until April 30, 2012, the deadline for employers to post a notice outlining employee rights to organize under the National Labor Relations Act. More information is available here. The NLRB agreed to the deadline postponement at the request of the federal judge who is hearing the case challenging the Board's right to create such a posting requirement.

RELATED PRACTICE AREAS

Labor and Employment
Labor Relations