

Managing Your Cyber Risk

DATE

November 17, 2015

Data breaches have become more prevalent in recent years and it is now really a matter of “when” and not “if” your company will have an incident. Regardless of size, you need to take steps to understand your risk and exposure, manage it, protect your sensitive information, and plan your response once an incident occurs. Please join us as our panel of insurance, legal, and security experts explores best practices to assess risk, protect data, and respond to clients and constituents.

Panelists:

- Spencer Timmel, Privacy and Technology Product Leader, Hylant
