

With nearly a decade of experience in the legal field, Laura Marczak supports attorneys and clients with intellectual property matters. Laura is a knowledgeable and solution-driven professional who has dedicated her career to protecting the creative and innovative endeavors of individuals and businesses.

Laura assists with preparing pleadings, motions and discovery. She monitors deadlines, manages high-volume document production, supports the preparation and filing of patent applications and manages several trademark portfolios.

Notably, Laura has managed cases involving trademarks, patents and copyrights in various federal and district courts and before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and Trademark Trial and Appeals Board. She takes pride in her role as a guardian of innovation, working tirelessly to ensure the defense of intellectual property rights of inventors, artists and businesses.

Prior to joining in the firm, Laura worked as a senior paralegal at a Dallas-based law firm. With each passing year, her dedication to this field grows stronger, and she is eager to continue her journey in the world of intellectual property law, championing the rights of innovators and creators for years to come.
