Barnes & Thornburg Welcomes New Attorneys

September 30, 2020 | Chicago | Indianapolis | Los Angeles | Washington, D.C.

Barnes & Thornburg has added new intellectual property and litigation attorneys to its Chicago, Indianapolis, Los Angeles and Washington, D.C., offices.

Mitchell Charchalis, an associate in the Los Angeles office, is an experienced litigator who focuses on defending Fortune 500 clients in a range of complex mass tort and product liability matters. Mitch has successfully represented international and domestic automotive, consumer products and medical device manufacturers and distributors in individual and class actions, including benzene exposure and other toxic tort litigation. He earned his J.D. from Maurice A. Deane School of Law at Hofstra University in 2012 and his B.A. in computer science and mathematics from James Madison University in 2008.

An associate in the Washington, D.C., office, Audrey Garipey-Bogui's practice focuses on complex commercial litigation, involving business torts, contract and employment disputes, government investigations, and product liability. She handles virtually all aspects of pre-trial practice, including drafting pleadings and discovery requests, taking party and fact witness depositions, and overseeing corporate document collection. As a native French speaker, Audrey is also very comfortable working with international clients. She earned her J.D. from The George Washington University Law School in 2014 and her B.A. in political science from Villanova University in 2011.

Zachary Miller, an associate in the Indianapolis office, is a skilled researcher and considers no subject to be too challenging when formulating a litigation strategy. He drafts critical motions and appeals for complex civil and criminal matters. Just before joining the firm full-time, Zach spent a year serving as a clerk to the Honorable Michael Kanne in
