

A results-driven problem solver, Noah Katsell focuses his practice on representing clients in complex commercial and corporate and securities litigation. Working alongside his clients as a business partner, Noah develops a deep understanding of their core values to strive for success in dynamic and complicated situations.

Noah's practice also includes representing clients in class actions, trade secret claims, internal investigations, and government enforcement actions, with a particular emphasis on the medical device and technology industries.

Over his more than 20 years in private practice, Noah has litigated high-stakes matters for some of Southern California's most significant companies. He has represented public and private companies, boards of directors and their committees, and individual directors and officers. Noah has practiced in both federal and state courts, as well as in various alternative dispute resolution forums.

Persistent and thoughtful, clients rely on Noah as a trusted adviser to provide strategic and practical advice as they navigate their most challenging legal issues.

Prior to joining Barnes & Thornburg, Noah was a partner with an Am Law 10 firm, where his practice concentrated on the areas of litigation, arbitration and government investigations.
