Watch On Demand

With multiple vaccines pending FDA approval, all eyes are shifting to the next hurdle in the fight against COVID – getting the vaccines safely into people. The challenge of delivering vaccines to global populations is already enormous, and add extreme temperature sensitivity to the mix and the distribution logistics get infinitely more difficult. Please join us as we learn more about some of the behind-the-scenes players, processes, and problem-solvers working to deliver COVID vaccines to all corners of the globe.
