Dawn Rosemond: I Am Barnes & Thornburg

February 1, 2019 | Fort Wayne

I AM...

- A first-degree black belt in TaeKwonDo earned at 17 – reality proves otherwise, but in my mind, I'm Bruce Lee/Ronda Rousey
- Fiercely in love with Christ
- A total and unapologetic “mama’s girl” who’s incredibly spoiled
- Allergic to disrespect and unkindness
- Totally scared of spiders, heights (except roller coasters), mirrors in the dark due to the movie Candyman, and clowns
- In love with the most amazing man who is the nicest human being I have ever met; he is the “Good Rosemond”
- The mom of the coolest, inspiring and God-fearing young men
- The creator of REIGN™, a personal and professional development platform designed to point people to their inherent royalty
- Someone who lives to build people up and to leave all I encounter better than I found them
- Vertically challenged, which has resulted in a serious addiction to high heel shoes
- Convinced I belong in every room I enter and that my quest to take over the world is indeed possible
