

Anesha Pink assists corporate clients on matters related to mergers, acquisitions, funding and growth strategies. She focuses on what is critically important to each client in order to meet their goals.

Before joining Barnes & Thornburg full-time, Anesha was a summer associate and law clerk with the firm. She researched and drafted an array of corporate documents, examined contracts for corporate matters, and assisted with pro bono cases.

During law school, Anesha served as the articles editor of the SMU Law Review and vice president of the Sports & Entertainment Law Association. She was also a member of the Black Law Student Association and advisory committee of the Diverse Attorney Pipeline Program

Outside of the office, Anesha is an avid golfer and coffee enthusiast.
