July 30, 2021 | Chicago | Dallas | Delaware | Salt Lake City | Indianapolis

Barnes & Thornburg has added new corporate, intellectual property, life sciences, litigation, and real estate attorneys and legal professionals to its Chicago, Dallas, Delaware, Indianapolis, and Salt Lake City offices.

A paralegal in the Indianapolis office, Chelsea Bradshaw assists her attorneys with scheduling hearings, depositions and mediations, as well as with drafting complaints, motions, notices, chronologies, discovery, and correspondence. Bradshaw also helps with trial and deposition preparation, including but not limited to, creating deposition outlines, pre-trial conference orders, witness and exhibit lists, verdict forms, and jury instructions. She earned her M.H.A. in health, health care administration and management from Capella University in 2017, her paralegal certificate from University of California San Diego in 2014 and her B.A. in criminal justice and psychology from Indiana University-Bloomington in 2009.

Themis Galanos, a staff attorney in the Delaware office, assists clients with land use matters by facilitating and negotiating client land development plans through initial stages of government permitting and approval. Galanos advises on site selection, surveys, easements, and annexation as part of the commercial real estate development process. He earned his J.D. from Widener University School of Law in 2018 and his B.A. in history and international business from West Chester University of Pennsylvania in 2014.

As an associate in the Chicago office, Andrew Hemmer counsels clients in disputes ranging from general commercial litigation, employment litigation and class actions to white collar and government investigations. Hemmer regularly drafts dispositive motions, conducts discovery, and
